

A VIRTUAL CONVERSATION ON WOMEN AND WOMEN'S RIGHTS IN AFGHANISTAN

Join Dr. Golnoosh Hakimdavar (Associate Teaching Professor of Law and Policy, Northeastern University) for a conversation with three women with close ties to Afghanistan as they reflect on recent events and the current situation for women in Afghanistan. Dr. Homeira Qaderi is an Afghan writer, activist, and educator who fled Afghanistan with her son during the fall of Kabul in August 2021. Nadia Sakhi has been actively advocating for Afghan women's higher education in the US with Initiative to Educate Afghan Women since 2006. Sahar Fetrat is a graduate student at the Department of War Studies, King's College London. This event is co-sponsored by Osgoode Hall Law School, York University, and the Global Legal Studies Center, University of Wisconsin Law School.

November 10
2:30 - 4:00PM ET

Register today at
<https://bit.ly/Afghanwomenpanel>

